Washington, D.C. - GALita a program of GALA for the entire family, is proud to present VolcanO – Tales of El Salvador by Cornelia Cody. Commissioned by GALA Hispanic Theatre and directed by Ms. Cody, this bilingual production will be presented at GALA Theatre, 3333 14th Street NW, Washington, DC 20010 from March 3 through March 17, 2018. The theater is located one block north of the Columbia Heights Metro station on the Green and Yellow lines. Parking is available at the Giant Food garage on Park Road NW.

For generations, the popular Salvadoran folk tales of the cadejos, the magic dogs of the volcanoes, have been passed down from family to family. With lively music and movement, the stories of the cadejos now come to life on stage as they protect Salvadorans at home and abroad from eruptions of volcanoes, thieves in the night, and journeys across borders.

“Volcanoes,” states playwright Cornelia Cody, “are beautiful, dangerous, frightening, and a part of the Salvadoran landscape. They are like folktales, stories that are often charming and a little scary. The play, VolcanO, combines folktales with a real-life immigration experience and its expressions of longing and dreams told through music, poetry, song, and dance.”

Student matinees for are scheduled week days on March 5 - 9 and March 12 - 16, 2018 at 10:30 am. Performances for the general public are on Saturday, March 3; Saturday, March 10; and Saturday, March 17 at 3 pm. The duration of this family show is approximately 45 minutes and is appropriate for ages 5 through 10.
