Washington, DC – With the government of the United States taking direct action to remedy the largest recession since the Great Depression, Federally Employed Women's (FEW), has stepped to the forefront of building a better trained government work force with their 40th National Training Program. At this critical national juncture, NTP is the premier training experience for women. Nothing could be more appropriate to our national endeavor to restore America's economic vitality than a well-trained civil service. FEW's celebrated "Keys to Success" program reflects FEW's mission embracing training as a critical means to helping more women succeed in their chosen career field.

"Keys to Success" training will take place July 20th through 24th at the Orlando World Center Marriott in Orlando, Florida. This outstanding, cost-effective training program will bring together thousands of women and men from government, industry, and academia for a unique educational and networking experience.

Registration is now open. Please note, some key classes to career advancement and entry into the Federal government workforce are filling fast. FEW offers no guarantee of access to late registrants for these classes. Class registration is based on a first come, first served basis.

TRAINING SESSIONS—Tuesday, July 21, through Thursday, July 23, 2009. FEW will offer over 125 workshops on timely topics aligned with the fundamental competencies and Executive Core Qualifications identified by the Office of Personnel Management. This year additional courses have been added that will appeal to members of our Military Services: Diversity in the Military; Protocol for Military and Civilians; Resumes (for military to civilian transition); Retirement Information; and Becoming a Master Mentor. Training Tracks have been added in the following categories: Executive Leadership, Project Management, Administrative Professional, Science & Technology, Military Connection, and the Federal Women Program (FWP). Courses are available on EEO for supervisors, alternate dispute resolution, the EEO investigation process, change management, technical project management, public speaking, improving your interviewing and resume skills, negotiation skills, and understanding your federal retirement benefits. For current information on all courses that are available, visit www.fewntp.org.

Presentations by a trio of keynote speakers, Carole Parker, Lisa Jones, and Vernice Armour will reinforce the “Each One Teach One” theme.

About FEW: Federally Employed Women (FEW) is a private, non-profit, membership organization founded in 1968 after the issuance of Executive Order 11375 that added “sex” to the prohibited discriminations within the federal government.

The annual NTP, FEW’s major training program, is held each July and is considered the premier training opportunity for women and men. The training is designed to meet the needs of all public, private, and federal employees, including military personnel, in positions ranging from entry-level through managerial and supervisory levels.

FEW’s many accomplishments and activities have impacted the federal workplace and contributed to the improved working conditions for all. For more information on FEW and the NTP, visit our website at www.few.org or telephone (202) 898-0994.
