

HISTORY FOR ANTI-HISPANIC BIGOTS

Op Ed 2020-09-18 22:52:13

Princeton, NJ - Some bigots ask people not to speak Spanish in public and to speak English. Some say they should go back home, although the vast majority are home. What inspires such attitudes? Fear of the emerging new majority-minority that will become a reality in little more than a generation? Is it today's version of historic anti-Spanish, anti-Latino sentiment? Who knows?

Reaching these bigots is not easy. As a Spanish-speaker, I feel compelled to write try to reach them. Like Spanish-speaking actor and producer John Leguizamo, author of Latin History for Morons, I offer some nuggets that our history books treat inadequately, diminish or ignore.

Would bigots harass these Spanish-speakers: Christina Aguilera, Jeb Bush, the late Kobe Bryant, Andrew Cuomo, Bill De Blasio, Conductor Gustavo Dudamel, Los Angeles Mayor Eric Garcetti, Selena Gómez, Salma Hayek, Carolina Herrera, María Hinojosa, Sen. Tim Kaine, Jacqueline Kennedy, María Teresa Kumar, Eva Longoria, Jennifer López, United Airlines CEO Oscar Muñoz, Beto O'Rourke, Geraldo Rivera, Secretary Bill Richardson, Alex Rodriguez, Marco Rubio, Carlos Santana, Martin Sheen, Sonia Sotomayor, Miami Mayor Francis Suárez and many others?

If anti-Spanish language sentiment were carried to its illogical extreme:

- o Amarillo, TX would be "Yellow, Texas"
- o Boca Ratón, FL would be "Mouse Mouth, Flowery"
- o Calaveras County, MO would be "Skull County" Colorado would be "Red-colored"
- o El Paso would be "The Pass"
- o Florida would be "Flowery"
- o Key West, FL would be "Cayo Hueso" (bone key, its original name)
- o Las Vegas would be "The Plains"
- o Nevada would be "Snow covered"
- o Sacramento would be "Sacrament"
- o San Antonio would be "Saint Anthony"
- o San Diego would be "St. James"
- o Sierra Nevada would be "Snow-covered Mountains"

Spanish in the cattle industry, in Western history and folklore:

Bandido	bandit
Bronc, bronco	wild or untamed horse
Buckaroo	vaquero, cowboy
Calaboose (jail)	calabozo (jail)
Chaps	chapaderas
Cincho	cinch
Corral	corral
Desperado	desesperado (desperate)
Hackamore	jáquima, halter

Hoosegow (jail)	juzgado (court)
Lasso	lazo (rope)
Mustang	musteño or mestengo
Rancho	ranch
Mesa	mesa (a flat-topped hill)
Renegado	renegade
Rodeo	rodeo (round up)
Stampede	estampida
Ten-gallon hat	tan galán (so handsome)

Countless other terms, some from Mexican indigenous languages, have become part of our daily communication and are surely used by the bigots.

In 1789, Thomas Jefferson advised his nephew, Peter Carr:

“Pay attention to the Spanish language and strive to acquire an accurate knowledge of it. Our future relations with Spain and Latin America will convert that language into a valuable acquisition.”

While many public figures today understand the need to speak Spanish, many others do not get it. On the other hand, banks, hotels, entrepreneurs, communicators, advertisers and elected officials do get it. Language is important. Spanish is important. And it is not a joke. Spanish has been here for centuries, will increase in importance and will be here for centuries ahead. Get used to it.
