

Access to Capital & Telecommunications Policy Conference

Technology 2010-07-19 05:44:14

Washington, DC – MMTTC will convene its Eighth Annual Access to Capital and Telecom Policy Conference at Washington's Renaissance Dupont Circle Hotel.

Approximately 350 registrants will attend — legislators, regulators, bankers, venture capitalists, brokers, communications attorneys, entrepreneurs, trade association CEOs, and C-level executives at major media, telecom and broadband companies.

The final program is attached and is posted at http://mmtconline.org/?page\_id=91 . Conferees will address:

The future of broadband: content, distribution, deployment, distribution platforms, and how we'll close the digital divide

How to raise capital - with a special focus on media-broadband synergies and new entrant opportunities

How to access procurement opportunities in media, telecom and broadband, including those flowing from the broadband stimulus.

Confirmed speakers include all five FCC commissioners (evidently the first time in several years that they've all appeared at the same event) as well as:

Senator Robert Menendez Congressman Bobby Rush Jeff Valdez – Co-Chairman, Maya Entertainment USDA RUS Administrator Jonathan Adelstein NTIA Chief of Staff Tom Power Former FCC Broadband Initiative Director Blair Levin Women in Municipal Government President Daisy Lynam InterMedia Partners Chair Leo Hindery RLJ Equity Partners, LLC Vice President Jerry L. Johnson TechNet President Rey Ramsey USTelecom President Walter McCormick NAB President Gordon Smith NCTA President Kyle McSlarrow Information Technology Information Council President Dean Garfield

The conference will feature a three-hour Financial, Transactional and Procurement Forum, where entrepreneurs will meet one-on-one with bankers, investors, brokers, lawyers and procurement officers.
