Washington, DC - This is your last chance to see a funny, introspective piece on narcissism now on stage at GALA Hispanic Theatre, La Foto: A Selfie Affair. Those who go to GALA know the rich comedic vein in which Luz Nicolas works. She's back as an adult mother raising a teenage daughter; while clutching at her youthful beauty and infatuations through cell phone apps and photos that expose all her narcissistic conceits... unapologetically. Carlos Castillo nails it as the old boyfriend flirting by text. The 2 act play zooms and suddenly, this delightful new world premiere, is over. Abel Lopez directs. This fast paced production has caught the rap attention of DMV teens with apps. Everyone else would be wise to follow their lead. It's timely, it's still here and the closing weekend ticket price can be discounted to $20 with this code: FOTO20 online at: <https://www.boxofficetickets.com/bot/wa/event?id=321523>
